

SPRING TRAINING IN ARIZONA 5 Days, March 9-13, 2025

It's time to PLAY BALL! Spring Training is a tradition in Arizona, with 15 Major League Baseball teams playing in small stadiums throughout the Valley of the Sun. The San Francisco Giants play in Scottsdale and the Oakland (soon to be Sacramento, and maybe Las Vegas) Athletics play in Mesa. While the full 2025 Spring Training game schedule won't be available until September, you can bet these teams will play some of their biggest rivals: the Los Angeles Dodgers, the San Diego Padres, the Seattle Mariners, and even the defending 2023 World Champion Texas Rangers! If we're lucky, we'll see some of these rivalries play out on the field, along with the young faces that are dreaming big of making it to "The Show." And we'll be at the center of it all with choice seating and accommodations centrally located to all the region's ballparks at the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Phoenix.

When the schedule is announced, we'll be reserving five games focused on the Giants and A's as the schedule allows. In between games, we'll take in the local sounds and sites, including visits to the Musical Instrument Museum in Scottsdale, the Hall of Flame Museum in Tempe, and the Desert Botanical Garden in Phoenix. We'll also travel to Saguaro Lake for a daytime cruise on the Desert Belle. Expect six included meals during the tour, including four breakfasts, one lunch, and 1 fabulous dinner at famous Rustler's Roost, overlooking the south valley. The tour will also include deluxe motorcoach transportation and a professional tour director from start to finish. Full details will be available by October 1.
